Needle Pointers

A new Pom-pon maker is now on the market. You can add dainty, expensive - looking pom - pons to everything you wish — bonnets, sweaters, jackets, etc. Comes in 3 sizes, small 1¼ inches, medium 1¾ inches and large 2¾ inches.

Don't tire of that favorite dress. Just open the seams and run any bright grosgrain ribbon from waist to hem. Sew the same ribbon around the bottom of the skirt.

If you do not have the desired size of a loom to make hairpin lace, here's an excellent substitute. With the wire handle of a fly swatter, using the curved end, cut handle length desired, and bend the curve to the width you wish to make the hairpin lace, then smooth ends of wire where it was cut.

Make room for a newcomer to your kitchen utensils; it's a double-duty white plastic measuring cup. No need to dry cup when changing from liquid to dry measures, just flip it over. Measurements are clearly marked on top and bottom of this novel wet-or-dry gadget.

Vinyl plastic fabrics are easy to stitch, and have many decorative uses.

Newest thing in tablecloths is flannel-backed plastic. It's non-skid, soft and so easy to keep clean. Charming selection of patterns and colors — hemmed edges for long-lasting wear.

Friendship Button Bracelet

INTERESTING and odd shaped buttons will make this bracelet a real conversation piece. Select 66 buttons, all in one color or in harmonizing colors and shapes. Perhaps your friends and neighbors will allow you to browse through their odd button collection. Each button will tell a story in the finished piece and make it truly an heirloom piece of jewelry.

Be prepared for compliments when you wear this attractive button bracelet! When selecting the buttons, choose a solid color or harmonizing colors that will perk-up your wardrobe.

The foundation for this bracelet is made of gold, silver or white elastic thread and a number 7 steel crochet hook. It has three rows of buttons, 22 in each, separated by one row of single crochet. The buttons may be tied on, if desired with a short length of elastic thread and a sturdy square knot. The beginning chain may need to be increased for a larger size, more buttons will be needed too. Arrange the buttons in a pleasing manner and in three rows. You may wish to string the buttons after arranging to help keep them in the desired pattern or sequence.

Abbreviations:

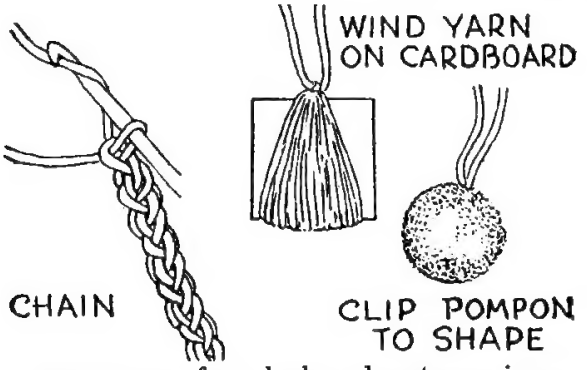
ch (chain)	sk (skip)
st (stitch)	lp (loop)
sc (single crochet)	sl st (slip stitch)

To begin, ch 44, join with sl st in first ch made. Ch 1, sc in each ch st around, join.

Ch 1, join a button by inserting hook through shank of button, pull lp through and complete sc, sk 1 sc, join a button in next sc, continue around in this way until you have joined 22 buttons, join with sl st in ch 1 first made.

Make three rows of buttons with a row of sc between two rows of buttons. Finish off with an sc row to balance the first row made.

Tie for Baby Bootees



THIS TIE for baby bootees is a chain, crocheted with two threads alternately. It is more attractive than a single chain and wears longer than ribbon.

Start with a loop in the end of each strand of yarn, draw one loop through the other, then continue, drawing first one strand through, then the other, continue until the cord is as long as desired.

After the cord is threaded through eyelets in bootee, finish with fluffy balls made as follows: wind yarn about 30 times around a piece of cardboard about ¾-inch wide, slip off and tie firmly in the middle and clip to shape. Sew to ends of cord.

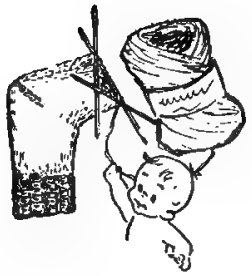
Women Who Make Cents



Infants' Knit Socks

Finding gifts for new babies that are useful, rather than ornamental, was a problem until I made my first pair of regular socks, infant size. Mothers tell me they stay on much better than bootees but serve the same purpose. I make them in any of the wide range of baby colors offered in yarn departments today and put them into clear cellophane bags to keep clean until they are needed. A few rows of ribbing, two or three inches of plain knit for the leg, turned heel and a foot section about 3 to 3½ inches long will fit almost any baby. I can make two or three pair in an evening and from a 35-cent skein of yarn, can knit three pair, so that the 50 cents per pair I charge for them yields quite a nice profit. Wool or orlon yarn makes fine socks but I've found that straight nylon yarn is not desirable since it has a tendency to stretch the wrong way. I also knit—upon request—these baby-color socks for older children when necessary to match a special outfit.

Binder Twine Door Mats

I crocheted several small rugs about 18x24 inches from binder twine for our own use to place at the back door for cleaning our shoes. Neighbors and friends saw them and now I have orders ahead. I sell them for $1 each. I use binder twine from hay and straw. Tie the ends with a flat knot. The knots help to clean dirt off shoes and boots. I thought other women might like to try binder twine shoe cleaners.

Eclairs Help Balance Budget

I enjoy baking and as our budget got out of hand due to illness, I thought I better help out. I bake and decorate tiny eclairs not only for special events but for tasty desserts any time. I freeze them in advance, then fill and decorate per order. The recipe is easy and economical:

½ cup margarine
1 cup water
1 cup flour
4 eggs

The WORKBASKET will pay $2 for each short article accepted for this department. Material should concern specific women who have found ways to add to the family income. Address all contributions to Women Who Make Cents, The WORKBASKET, 543 Westport Road, Kansas City 11, Mo. No contributions to this department will be returned.

Put water and margarine in saucepan and stir over moderate heat until margarine melts, then add flour quickly and stir about a minute until mixture leaves sides of pan. Remove and add eggs, one at a time, stirring thoroughly, until mixture is thick. Drop by teaspoon on ungreased cooky sheet and shape. Bake in hot oven 425° F. for 35 or 40 minutes. Cool. Makes about 16 eclairs (depending on size). Later split them and fill with cooled vanilla pudding and frost. The frosting can be decorated very attractively according to the occasion and makes a conversational piece out of each one. Recently I had a large order for a fiftieth wedding anniversary. These I frosted white with a golden yellow figure 50 on top of each. I charge 8 cents apiece for these and find the profit very good.

Jams Jellies Preserves

It is time to get the pots boiling for those home canned jellies, jams and preserves. There will certainly be a lot of pots boiling, too. The Department of Agriculture recently reported that some 20 million families do home canning.

The blue ribbon qualities that jellies should have are these: color, clear and sparkling; consistency, firm enough to retain its shape yet tender enough to quiver. There is a well known trio that must balance just right for your jelly to be blue ribbon. This trio is acid, sugar and pectin. You can run a simple test for the pectin content of fruit juice and eliminate using commercial pectin. If you prefer to use the commercial pectin be sure, by all means, to follow the instructions that come with it. The instructions on the package were designed specifically for the strength of pectin inside. Here is a short and simple pectin contents test. Mix 1 tablespoon cooked unsweetened juice with 1 tablespoon alcohol, preferably grain. Wood or denatured alcohol may be used, but do not taste them; they are poisonous. If a large clot forms, the juice contains enough pectin for jelly. Apples, plums and quinces, are fruits that have a high pectin content and you can extract it to add to the fruits short in supply.

There is no simple home method for testing the acid content of fruit. The best the homemaker can do is to taste the juice for tartness. If it seems to lack acidity, lemon juice can be added.

Here are some basic directions that will guide you to blue ribbon jellies.

1. Select a mixture of ripe and slightly under ripe fruit and prepare small proportions at a time.

2. Wash thoroughly, drain, hull, stem, cut out spoiled parts and cut or crush fruit before measuring. Do not remove the skins, cores and seeds unless the recipe says to; these contain some pectin.

3. Cut the hard fruits into pieces and slightly crush the berries.

4. Add enough water to barely cover hard fruits (about one pint of water for each pound of fruit). Currants, grapes and berries need only enough water to start them cooking (about ¼ cup water for each quart of fruit). Boil until the fruit is tender.

5. Pour the hot cooked fruit into a jelly bag and let it drip into a deep bowl or pan. Be sure your jelly bag is thick enough to give you clear juice.

6. Examine, wash and rinse jars or glasses and lids; cover with hot water and just bring to a boil.

7. Cook only 6 to 8 cups of juice and sugar at a time.

8. Remove jars and lids from hot water and drain, inverted, on a towel.

9. Bring juice to a boil; add the sugar and boil rapidly until the jellying point is reached.

10. Remove jelly from heat and skim off any foam if necessary. Pour the hot jelly into glasses or jars; allow ¼-inch head space.

11. To cover with paraffin, let jelly stand until thoroughly cooled. Pour on a layer of hot paraffin and turn glass so paraffin touches all sides. Make it a thin coating; thick heavy paraffin will pull away from the sides. Do not reuse paraffin; it will cause a musty flavor.

12. To test for the jellying point, dip a spoon in the syrup. When the jelly is nearing the jellying point it will drop from the side of a spoon in two drops; when the drops run together and slide off in a sheet the jelly is finished and should be removed from the heat immediately.

13. Any combination of juices may be used to make jelly so long as each juice by itself would make good jelly.

Apple jelly, clear and sparkling, standing firm yet quivering, has all the qualities of blue ribbon jelly.

Apple Jelly

Select fresh, sound, tart, hard-ripe fruit. Wash, cut and discard blossom ends. Slice or chop rest of apple. Add 2 cups water to each quart sliced apples. Cover and cook gently until soft. Drain through jelly bag. Measure juice. Heat to boiling; add ¾ cup sugar for each cup juice. Stir until sugar dissolves, then boil rapidly to jellying point. Skim and pour, boiling hot, into half pint jars. Seal at once.

Apple Pectin

2 pounds apple pulp or skins and cores
4 cups water
juice of one lemon

Combine all ingredients and boil 40 minutes. Press juice through a jelly bag, then allow juice to strain through jelly bag without pressure. Boil juice rapidly 15 minutes. Pour boiling juice into sterilized jars and seal. To use in making jelly from other fruits use 1 cup apple pectin for each cup of other fruit juice used.

Fig Jam

Scald 6 quarts figs in 6 quarts boiling water; allow to stand 15 minutes. Drain; rinse thoroughly in cold water. Press fruit until all water is out. Remove stems; measure fruit and crush. Allow half as much sugar as fruit. Put in barely enough water to start fruit cooking; allow to boil until thick. Pour into sterilized jars and seal while hot. A little thin-sliced lemon or orange may be added if desired.

Pineapple Jam

8 cups chopped pineapple
1 orange
6 cups sugar
⅓ teaspoon salt

Wash, rinse, drain, pare, chop and measure pineapple. Wash and rinse orange; squeeze out juice; discard seeds. Chop orange peel finely. Combine all ingredients and boil until thick. Pour boiling hot into jars; seal at once.

Peach and Plum Jam

3 pounds peaches (7 cups)
3 pounds red plums (7 cups)
12 cups sugar
1 lemon, sliced very thin

Wash peaches and rub fuzz from them; pit. Pit plums, cut fruit into small pieces, measure and crush lightly. Add sugar and lemon and cook to tender stage. Pour into sterilized jars; seal while hot.

Tomato Preserves

2 pounds firm tomatoes, red or yellow
2 pounds sugar
2 lemons, thinly sliced
1 cup light raisins
½ teaspoon each cloves and allspice
1 stick cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground ginger

Scald, skin and weigh tomatoes. Quarter or halve any tomatoes larger than a hen egg. Cover with sugar and let stand overnight in cool place. Next day drain off juice, add lemon, salt and spices (tie whole cloves, allspice and cinnamon in bag) and boil about 5 minutes. Add tomatoes and raisins; cook until tomatoes are clear and syrup thick. Remove spice bag. Pour boiling hot preserves into warm jars and seal immediately.

Mother is everybody's girl friend when she offers a choice of three of her own preserves—tomato preserves, pineapple or peach jam.

I have a bush which some people call a sweet pea tree. The leaves resemble a locust tree and the blossoms are lavender like sweet pea flowers. Is there another name for such a tree or bush? Mrs. B.D., Maine.

The tree-like smooth barked plant, with sweet pea like flowers followed by clusters of flat disk-like seed pods belongs to the locust family as its leaves would indicate. It is Robinia haspida, commonly called the Rose Acacia tree.

The leaves of my Dieffenbachia plant are becoming brown. Would you tell me what causes this, and how can I prevent it? Mrs. M.W., Virginia.

Dieffenbachias need a warm moist partially shaded location. They should be planted in rich well drained soil and should be watered regularly and often. Drying at the roots and dry air are the usual cause of the leaves turning brown. While the soil must be kept damp the excess water must drain away quickly. The base of the container should not be allowed to stand in water for excess water soon causes leaves to brown.

The blossoms fall off of my wood rose plant before they become a wood rose. Could you tell me the culture and care of this plant? Mrs. C.M.M., Florida.

Probably the blossoms fall because they are not pollinated. The wood rose is a seed with the dehisced seed pod. Unless the blossom is pollinated the seed does not develop and the flower drops. Some method must be devised to insure that the flowers are pollinated.

I wonder if you can tell me what is wrong with my watermelon begonia? All the new leaves which sprout curl up. Mrs. C. C., Oregon.

The watermelon begonia is a peperomia and requires protection from strong sunlight in summer, preferably a north window. It requires good drainage, but plenty of water and prefers a humid atmosphere. Extremely dry air in mid-summer often causes the plant to lose its vitality and the leaves to curl.

I raised a passion-flower from seed. It is now two years old and has never bloomed. What is wrong with the plant? Mrs. L. J., Texas.

The passion-flower which you raised from seed, probably is the maypop, or wild passion-flower. It dies down each winter and must have a period of dormancy each year. If the plant is growing indoors allow it to rest in the fall by placing it in a cool place and decreasing the water. In early spring cut it back at least one-half, increase the water and place it in a warm place. It should grow vigorously and bloom on the new growths.

I am looking for a rose bush to plant in front of shrubbery. Would the floribunda rose be suitable for this purpose? If so, should it be cut back in the fall to keep it from getting too large? Is it as hardy as other roses? Mrs. E.C.B., Tennessee.

A floribunda rose is a hybrid polyantha and blooms heavily with the bloom usually in clusters. It is quite effective in the landscape. It is equally as hardy as the hybrid teas and is naturally of small size. It may be cut back almost to the ground in fall or early spring and will soon be in bloom again. But, the only pruning really needed is to cut out dead wood and cut back the taller canes just to shape up the plant. It will not outgrow its location and so long as it does not have to compete with the shrubbery for water and food will be entirely satisfactory in front of shrubbery.

Gardening questions are answered each month by C. L. Quear, one of the nation's leading gardening experts. Send questions on a post card — do not send samples of plants or leaves. Mr. Quear will answer questions only through the pages of The WORKBASKET; no questions will be answered through the mail. The most general and interesting questions will be selected to be answered when they are timely. Address to Flower and Garden Forum, The WORKBASKET, 543 Westport Road, Kansas City 11, Mo. Include name and address.

I have trouble with blight on my maple leaf begonias. Is there a spray or dust I could use to prevent this? Mrs. F.C., North Carolina.

Maple leaf begonia is probably begonia Weltoniensis although there are at least three others called maple leaf begonias. It may be the victim of many diseases of the foliage. It is possible that bacterial leaf spot is being referred to as blight. Most leaf troubles of begonias are due to overwatering, frequent wetting of the foliage and lack of ventilation. Check the growing conditions and see that they are not a contributing factor to leaf trouble. See to it that the plant is lightly shaded to protect it from intense sunlight. It is doubtful if sprays or dusts would be of any value. Fungus diseases of indoor plants are almost invariably induced through poor growing conditions. With the maple leaf begonia moderate watering alternating with moderate drying will largely control leaf diseases.

Each year I have trouble with mildew on my phlox and on some of my roses. What should I do about this condition? Mrs. V.M.J., Utah.

Mildew is a fungus disease affecting many kinds of plants, the fungus forming a white coating over the surface of the leaf. Mildew becomes more destructive as the season progresses, becoming especially prevalent towards the end of summer. Frequent applications of fine dusting sulphur applied lightly in the morning of a sunshiny day will keep the mildew under control. On phlox and roses the application must be repeated as the sun and rain destroys the effectiveness of sulphur. If preferred, liquid sprays containing wettable sulphur may be used. The fungicides do not cure the leaves of mildew but does protect healthy leaves from the spores of the fungus. Other newer mild fungicidal sprays such as Captan and Ferbam are proving quite effective for mildew control.

I would like to know how to care for a croton plant? Mrs. E. R., Arkansas.

Croton plants require no special conditions except humidity and temperature. They prefer a good soil and a reasonable amount of moisture coupled with high humidity. Heat is the thing they like most of all, doing their best in a temperature that doesn't fall below 70°. Either cool weather or dry air may cause the leaves to wilt and drop. Give the plants all the light possible in winter but outdoors in summer they prefer a light shade.

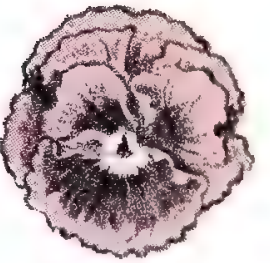
Pansies on Parade



Our ancestors were growing and enjoying the exquisite beauty of pansies hundreds of years ago! Today, as then, the possibilities are limitless with this universally popular and easily grown flower. The vigor and free-blooming quality of the pansy make it indispensable in gardens.

When planning your rock garden or perennial borders, remember that a charming companion to the pansy is the viola. Nosegays were made of the violas (miniature pansies) during the reign of Elizabeth I. Both of these flowers blend well with azaleas, tulips, Virginia bluebells and English daisies. Pansies and violas are attractive in other arrangements also—they add a spark of beauty to window boxes, patios and in planters.

For best results, pansy seeds should be sown during late July or early August. Plant seeds in light soil, and keep seed pan in a cool place, such as an airy shed, until the seedlings appear; then transplant to a bed in late September or early October. The transplanting should be done early—before severe weather comes, so that the plants can become established. Good roots must form before the final setting. Be sure there is good water drainage. In colder climates, a light mulch should be added after ground has been frozen for winter. Pansies and violas will bloom most of the winter in the southern and western coastal regions and in these areas may be used as a winter bedding plant. They are hardy flowers—they will winter outdoors in most regions of the United States and Canada with very little protection. Where the temperature does not normally go below 15 degrees above zero, protection is of little need.

These flowers usually thrive best in sandy, loamy deep planting, however, they will grow in any good light soil. Select a location for them where they will not be overshadowed by trees or too exposed to the hot sun. If you're using ordinary garden soil, try adding approximately one-third humus or decayed leaf mold for extra richness. When planting, place roots firmly and deeply into the soil and as soon as the flowering period starts, you can add a top mulch of humus or leaf mold. member that faded blooms should be removed, so that more flowers will grow and keep your garden lovely for many months!

To protect your pansies and violas against two-leaf spotting fungi which produces whitish spots, it is recommended that you spray the plants with bordeaux mixture and add potassium oleate for a sticker; and to rid the garden of cutworms and slugs, spray with lead arsenate.

FLORADALE GIANTS — These giant pansies are well-rounded, profuse bloomers, available in an unusually large color range.

There are numerous pansy and viola seed catalogs available for the home gardener. The seedsmen have used their ingenuity and skill to bring an array of pansies and violas never before seen. The Coronation Gold Pansy—the All-American Silver Medal Winner—is ever popular and very effective in borders; combine this pansy with shades of blue Swiss giant pansies, for a unique color assortment! The wide range of colors, markings and forms, easy culture and versatility of pansies and violas, make these favorites of all gardeners.

Water African violets when the soil feels only slightly moist to the touch. Plants should not become thoroughly dry before watering them, but do not allow them to become waterlogged; this encourages crown rot.

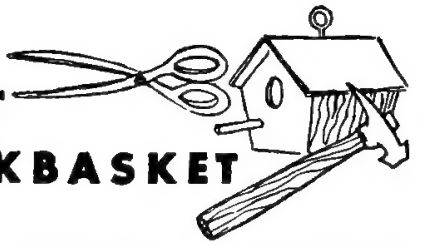
Junior WORKBASKET



Hurrah, for the Red, White and Blue! Just in case any of you might have a July birthday, I've dreamed up more party ideas, and I do hope you'll like them.

First, let's decorate the table. Use ordinary white crepe paper for the tablecloth. Paste colored stars all over it, red, white and blue. Now for the nut cups. Color red stripes on white paper, then cut a strip of this paper to fit around a nut cup and paste on, stripes going up and down, as shown. From blue construction paper, cut a circle and paste underneath the cup. This forms the brim of the hat. You may add a red or blue ribbon around the base of the hat, if you like.

When it is refreshment time, you could serve red nectar to be real gay, and star-shaped cookies decorated with white frosting and red sugar. Here is a clever way to fix your drinking straws. Cut stars from red, white and blue paper, and make slits in the stars as shown. Slip the straw through the slits, and put one in each glass. If you want to be very festive, stick a star-shaped cooky into each guest's dish of ice cream.

Naturally, all parties need games, and this game is fun even if you aren't having a party. Choose two sides, and give each side a big old sack. The first in line is to climb into the sack and hop to a certain goal and back again. Then he is to climb out of the sack, hand it to the next person, who will do the same thing. It isn't easy, and you will be sure to work up a good appetite this way!
